Jose Iturbi Foundation winners, Anastasia Markina and Dmitri Levkovitch, perform both duo piano and solo repertoire at the "From Russia With Love" Concert to be held Saturday, October 30th at the Hollywood Museum. JIF awards more than $850,000 in cash prizes to date to talented musicians from around the world.

Hollywood, California (PRWEB) October 24, 2011

The Hollywood Museum will transform itself into a concert hall during the afternoon of Sunday, October 30, when world-renowned classical pianists, Dmitri Levkovich and Anastasia Markina, perform a one-time recital titled, "From Russia with Love." The Museum is located in Hollywood's historic Max Factor Bldg at 1660 N. Highland Avenue (at Hollywood Blvd). Both pianists are past winners of the prestigious José Iturbi International Music Competition, which is organized by the José Iturbi Foundation. Levkovich and Markina will grace the audience with performance pieces by Chopin, Albeniz, Debussy, Millhaud, Rachmaninov, Infante, Strauss, and closing out the night with Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue for two pianos. The recital will take place from 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. and will be followed by a VIP dessert reception, where attendees will have the opportunity to meet the two performers.

Tickets include admission to the Hollywood Museum's four floors of Hollywood entertainment memorabilia spanning 100 years of Hollywood history, including a special exhibit featuring concert master José Iturbi.

Dmitri Levkovich has performed all over the world and has graces six continents with his piano. He has been the recipient of multiple awards and has appeared in some of the most prestigious concert halls and festivals worldwide, including Carnegie Hall in New York, Marinsky Theater's Concert Hall in St. Petersburg, Russia, and Beijing's National Center for the Performing Arts.

Russian pianist, Anastasia Markina, has won multiple prominent music competitions, including Grand Prize at the Young Texas Artists Music Competition in 2007 and 2nd Prize at the José Iturbi International Music Competition in both 2007 and 2008. She has been training under famed Russian pianist, Vladimir Viardo,

"The José Iturbi Foundation showcases the world's greatest classical music talent of tomorrow," said Donelle Dadigan, Co-Founder of the José Iturbi Foundation. "Each year the José Iturbi Foundation awards more than $250,000.00 and is the largest cash prize classical music competition in the world," she adds. Dadigan considers the Hollywood Museum, the official museum of Hollywood treasures, the perfect place for the Jose Iturbi Hollywood Concert. "It is an intimate setting reflecting Hollywood's Glamour years, the 1930's and 40's," she adds, "which is when José Iturbi's music graced the Hollywood movies."

The next Jose Iturbi Foundation International Music Competition will be held June 9-15,2013 at UCLA Schoenberg Hall in Los Angeles. <http://www.joseiturbifoundation.org>

Concert Ticket prices: $50 per ticket, $85 per pair. Students Discounts available with valid Student ID or 21 yrs or younger.
